SUNDAY 20th NOVEMBER 2022 – Safeguarding Sunday / Christ the King

THE VICAR WRITES...

Today is the last Sunday before a new Church year (Advent Sunday) and we mark Christ the King. It is also Safeguarding Sunday. What's the link? The Kingdom of God is marked by certain values, amongst them equality and justice, freedom and peace. Safeguarding is about treating the vulnerable with equality, ensuring justice where there is abuse, setting people free from fear, and allowing them to live in peaceful surroundings, which they can trust. Those values are not a spiritual concept about heaven, they are principles by which the Church is called to live.

Our Poppy Crosses at the Somme

Each year we need to dispose of the 100 Remembrance poppy crosses displayed in the Memorial Garden. It didn't feel right to put them in the bin, nor to re-use them the next year. So they were kept dry and then given for burning on domestic fires.

This year, Martin Bradley (who volunteers in the garden) asked if he could take last year's crop with him to the cemeteries of the Western Front battlefields in France. It is a visit he regularly makes with a group of friends. They visit not only the famous monuments, like the Thiepval Memorial with over 75 000 names of the battlefield dead, but also the smaller cemeteries around Arras on the Somme. Here is Martin's report back:

“Just reporting back from the Western Front to say that we managed to 'plant' 99 poppy crosses (the ones used in last year's garden display) against the graves of Unknown soldiers in seven different cemeteries. Some at small ones in remote locations that had under 100 hundred burials, to some that had thousands of burials”.

I think this fine gesture ends Remembrance 2022 at St Martin's on a high note. We did well and We Will Remember Them wherever they have fallen.

Alastair Watson

It is sad to report that Alastair Watson died suddenly in his garden on Friday. He was a Reader at St Martin's for many years before he moved his ministry to St Mary's Burgh Heath. He was a person of wide interests and an excellent prison visitor as well as supporting the mission of the Church in many ways. In his working life he was a local solicitor. Many of the older members of the congregation will remember him. May he rest in peace and rise in glory.

Inclusivity at Church – Diocesan pastoral team

Questions of identity, sexuality and relationships are no small matter. Each are subjects that can take a journey of a number of months or years - or a lifetime - to come to terms with.

The pastoral team was called together by Bishop Andrew to support LGBTI+ people and their families and close friends and to help them on this journey.

The pastoral team does not offer counselling but an ear to listen and a chance to pray with someone. Sharing the truth that Jesus loves and welcomes everyone and is trying to lead us all closer to him, the team will help individuals, couples, relatives and friends on a journey of understanding and discipleship.

It may be that someone feels lonely because they're the only gay person in their church, the only person with gender issues or they feel misunderstood; there are countless possible scenarios that the team are able to help with. In all cases they will point where necessary to further specialist help.

For all sorts of reasons clergy might feel it wise to point someone beyond the local church community for support. We can offer that support.

In the first instance I, Revd Stephen Cox (stephenj.cox@virgin.net) can be approached and after a conversation via phone or email, will put those enquiring in touch with the appropriate team member.

More details about how this team works, including the contact details, can be found under LGBTI+ on the Embracing Diversity page of The Diocesan Website.

We are not a campaigning group, and take a variety of positions on underlying ethical issues. Our shared aim is to assist all to grow in Christ and to find wholeness in Him.

Thank you.

Yours in Christ

Revd Steve Cox

(postponed from 8 October 2022 due to the Bishop Andrew and Bishop Jo are inviting you to Walk the Wey to Guildford to help the vulnerable and disadvantaged in our diocese. During the past year the Fund has provided funds to help, among others, St Martin's, Old Dean, Camberley launch a community breakfast scheme in an area of high deprivation, keep Andy's Café at St Andrew's, Goldworth Park serving the community while it recovered from lockdown and set up a support group for new mothers at St Mark's, Great Tattenhams.
